Hey Chris,

Can you please reach out to the bigger services, like York, Durham Kingston and find out if we needed their POU teams what their stand up time is and how many they could send?

I don't think we want to pull the trigger of getting them here yet, I would just like to have a sense of their capability.

I think it may be prudent to see what would be available if this ends up being a protracted event...

Thanks,

Trish

I would like to task Michel with the securing of access to 474 Elgin – would that be okay with you. I flagged it to Louis yesterday, but if you are okay with it, I will ask him to come up with a plan.

Good morning,

Apologies for the delayed update. Our plates were full and this fell off the table and wasn't noticed

- The plan continues to be very fluid and the team was working on some significant changes to the framework. We should have the straw dog ready this morning sometime
- We are getting an uptick in comments from third parties about fringe groups and their related concerns
- Media reported that the west convoy took two hours to get through Dryden last night
- There will be traffic chaos and it will most likely last for days.

Inspector and Staff:

My apologies, I forgot to send this to you last night.

SIT REP #2 for Wednesday January 26, 2022

- PLT members still engaged and liaising with OPP PLT teams to get more accurate numbers on the different convoys travelling to Ottawa
- Some leaders of the convoy, are over exaggerating numbers, saying “1 Million truckers in convoy”, so we are relying on that front line OPP PLT intel
- Corp. Comms. have dealt with internal and external messaging and partners
- Operational Plan is still ongoing and fluid as well as the traffic plan
- External city partners (NCC, government agencies, OAC, OFD etc), all have been notified and made aware especially in downtown core
- PLT fielding questions with those Gov’t agencies mainly in downtown core
- As of last night, the West convoy who are in Thunderbay had 480 MV’s plus Transport trucks spanning 50 km’s long
- Go Fund Me Update – at the time of this email the current amount is 5.9 million dollars, this number is expected to rise.

Respectfully,

Sgt. Louis Carvalho #1252
